- The FWS is a need-based program and part of the financial aid package. You must complete the FAFSA each year to determine if you are eligible.
- Completion of this application does not guarantee eligibility or placement in a FWS position.
- In assigning a FWS job, several factors are considered. These factors are financial need based on your budget, availability of positions, the amount of other assistance available to you, and the total work-study funds available.
- Applications are matched with department requests and students are assigned to areas that correspond with their interests and abilities. The work-study program is flexible --- it allows students to work on campus around class and study times.
- The number of work hours assigned is up to 20 hours per week while classes are in session.
- You must be enrolled for at least six credit hours while you are employed as a work-study student.
- Your work-study application will remain on file until the end of the academic year in which you apply. If you are eligible for work-study and a position is available, you will be contacted via student email with your job placement. If you are not eligible, an email will be sent to your student email letting you know why you are not eligible.
